Darrin's Dissertation

Happy Holidays

Every year I try to come up with a cute and/or clever way to encourage all of us to enjoy the holiday season while poking fun at political correctness. The point is that we should all enjoy the positive aspects of the Holiday season. Regardless of your secular or spiritual beliefs, this is the time of year that we get to appreciate and enjoy friends and family. The holiday season is upon us so I want to take this opportunity wish everyone a Merry Christmas, a Happy Chanukah, a Fabulous Festivus, or a wonderful... whatever you choose to celebrate. It is great that we all have the freedom in this country to choose what we celebrate and how we choose to do so.

December General Meeting (12/9/2021)

This year we are pulling out all of the stops for the December meeting. Not only are we celebrating the holiday season, but we are still celebrating our 75th year of service to the Membership and Community. We are renting a large tent like we did last year and we will have plenty of propane heaters to keep us warm. As usual, the raffle will have upgraded prizes and we will have the annual holiday drawing for gift cards and other goodies.

We are also continuing the annual tradition of the Dave Ransberger Memorial Joy Drive where we collect toys, diapers, and currency to help support our heroes serving on Camp Pendleton. There will be drawings for that event as well, so bring your checkbook and give until it hurts.

Ray Bucholz will also have his annual drawings. The proceeds go to supporting the Mom's Creek Rose Garden (that keeps me out of the doghouse when I bring roses home to my wife). From what I understand, this year he will have some awesome prizes for his drawings.

See you there!

We Share the Range

Escondido Fish and Game Association regularly shares our range with other community organizations. This month the range will host multiple groups.

Safari Park Security: The Safari Park Security will be conducting a quantification shoot on 150 yard Range.

Scout Troop 649: Scout Troop 649 will be using the campground for a camp out.

Sea Cadets: The Sea Cadets will be doing a camp out in the campground, too. The following day we will be doing a basic pistol and shotgun class for them. The range has enjoyed a great relationship with the Sea Cadet program for many years. The Sea Cadets have been a huge help with many of the work parties and other projects around the range. They work hard. They are very polite and happy to help. They lead by example. They also provide a Color Guard for many of our programs, including our Veteran's Day event. These young men and women are the future leaders of our communities. The Junior Marksmanship Program is happy to work with this fine group. As with all Junior Programs, we need coaches. If you are interested in helping us coach please email Patrick Russ at pruss@escondidofishandgame.com.

2021-2022 Duck Hunting Season

Duck Hunting Season began Saturday, October 23, 2021 and runs through Saturday, January 31, 2022. The City of San Diego Lake's Recreation Program is accepting reservations for 18 duck blinds at Barrett Reservoir this year.

Jack Starlin will purchase 2 blinds for EF&GA members. Each blind will accommodate 1 adult and 2 juniors.

Contact Jack at 619-840-7990 if you are interested in taking advantage of his generosity. For restrictions and requirements or if you are interested in making your own reservations call 619-668-2050 or email vhicks@sandiego.gov.

As-issued Military Rifle Match News

by Jim McKim

Rifles and cartridges used by the ten participants in the November match were: US Rifle M1, .30-06; US M1903, .30-06; US M1903-A3, .30-06; Japanese Arisaka Model 38, 6.5x50mm; British Lee-Enfield No. 4 Mk I, .303 British; and Swiss K31, 7.5x55 Swiss.

The topic of historical discussion this month was the Swiss K31. Adopted as Switzerland's standard service rifle in 1932, the K31 was an improved derivative of the K11. Perhaps surprising by current standards, the "K" in the model name stands for "Karabiner", German for carbine, even though the K31 had a barrel length of 25.65 inches and an overall length of 43.6 inches and weighed 8.85 lbs. - a far cry from an M4 carbine of today! To put that in perspective of the era, the predecessors of the K31 and K11 had barrel lengths of 30.7 inches and weighed around 10 lbs. The K31 remained in front line service until 1958, with a total production run of 528,230.

The K31 has a 6-round detachable box magazine, but is typically loaded from the top, either singly or with a unique cardstock and aluminum "charger" in lieu of a more typical steel or brass stripper clip. Up to six rounds can be loaded into the charger. The charger is then placed into the open action and the shooter pushes the rounds out of the charger and into the magazine with his/her thumb. Original chargers can now be hard to find but plastic versions, and even 3D printer files to make your own, are available.

The K11 and K31 were both designed to fire the 7.5x55 Swiss cartridge, designated GP11 ("GP" for "Gewehrpatron" - "rifle cartridge"), adopted in 1911. This round, with a 7.78mm diameter 174 gr bullet, has ballistics similar to the 7.62x51 NATO/.308 Winchester and was an improvement over the earlier GP90 developed by Eduard Rubin, inventor of the full metal jacket cartridge. It is recognized as one of, or perhaps THE, most accurate military cartridges ever produced. Most match shooters prefer GP11 even over custom handloads. Surplus GP11 used to be readily available not much more than five years ago, but that supply is now dried up. Even though it is no longer the standard Swiss service cartridge, small quantities are still produced for use by the Swiss military match shooters. In true Swiss fashion, instead of being packaged in cheap paper wrapping and SPAM cans that require a tool to open, GP11 comes ten to a neat little cardstock box with a perforated pull strip, 12 boxes bundled together in white waxed paper "bricks", four bricks to a waxed heavy cardstock box with cotton webbing handles and buckled strap.

Under the steel butt plate, held in place by two screws, a small slip of paper can often be found bearing the name of the citizen-soldier the rifle was issued to, along with his address. The wise owner/collector will carefully place that strip back where it belongs for future owners to discover and enjoy. One of the more interesting aspects of the K31 and its kin is the straight-pull action originally designed in 1885 by Rudolf Schmidt and later improved by others. Operated by an easy to grasp T-handle, the bolt rotates and unlocks via a camming action of an actuator rod riding in a helical slot in the bolt sleeve. Pushing the handle forward reverses the motion, chambering a round and locking the bolt in the breech. This makes for a very smooth and rapid cycling action as the bolt handle does not need to be rotated. In addition, the parts are all very nicely machined, as one might expect from the Swiss, which adds to the smoothness. All-in-all, the K31 with GP11 ammo is a lot of fun to shoot. For more information on Swiss service rifles, see <http://www.swissrifles.com/>

CORRECTION for Lake Wohlford Cafe

In the November Newsletter, we accidentally ran an older ad for Smokey's Lake Wohlford Cafe. The ad had the names of the previous owners. We apologize for the error. The Cafe has been owned by Mary Khuu and Andy Millea for over a year. Their hospitality is fun and welcoming and their food is delicious. Stop by on your way to the range or on your way home. BLACK POWDER NEWS

by Garth Warner

DECEMBER EVENTS:

ML Bullseye League: None. This series concluded in November and will restart on January 2nd, 2022. The first event of the year will be "BullsEye Rifle, Short Course". You will have two B-19 paper targets at 50 yards. 13 shots at each target, best 10 count. Safety meeting at 0745, shoot starts at 0800. This shoot is for replica muzzle loading rifles, firing patched round ball only. Contact Patrick Watson for details.

Traditional Archery: December 5th, we will host the first annual Mike Marks Bare Bow Classic. This is an open invitational event modeled on the National Bare Bow competition. There will be one class for Recurve, and one class for Longbow. Contact David Premetz for details.

MuzzleLoading Silhouette: Our next scheduled contest is on December 26th. Since this falls the day AFTER Christmas, this should provide you all an excuse to get away from family and in-laws for a few hours. This contest will consist of a number of Non-Standard targets for rifle, and a Stupid Short Course for pistol. Everyone who enters will receive a ticket for a drawing to be held after the contest. I will have 3 complete Turkey dinners with all the fixings, including a homemade pie. Contact Garth Warner for details.

MuzzleLoading Silhouette Changes for 2022 ?:

I have been contemplating some format additions to the 2022 season. Maybe we will include a 5 shot paper target component at the Super Short Range events. That could help those of you that seem to be having a problem finding your shots. We also have access to some different silhouettes that could spice up the event. We could also have small scale team events. Lets discuss this at the December contest.

TRAP CORNER

By Darrin Eaton

Merry Christmas to All

Due to the holiday, there will be no Trap or Pot on Christmas Day. Be sure to make time to visit with friends and family and enjoy the holiday.

Turkey Shoot (11/20/2021)

We had a very fun and successful Turkey Shoot this year. We all had a great time with a little less serious format and some different types of Trap shooting. Later in the day I had numerous people approach me and thank me for running a fun event that seemed to go off without a hitch. The fact of the matter is that I really can't take much credit for how well it all happened. There were some key people who made my job a lot easier. Without them, there would have been a lot of standing around waiting for squads and scorekeepers to keep it all moving along. I want to take this opportunity to thank them for all that they did:

Tim Hoy – Kept the paperwork, punch card sales, and squad sheets in good order.

Mark Baldwin – Kept the squads rolling and did a lot of scoring.

Eric Schoelkopf – Got there early to help set up and make sure that all of the machines were set correctly and got the microphones all connected.

Don Hudson – Got there early and helped set up and scored a few rounds as well.

Randi Michael – Helped score a few rounds and helped keep it all running smoothly.

All that I did was pick up the turkeys, stuffing, and cranberry sauce. Everyone else just made me look good. Please be sure to thank those listed above if you see them in passing. These events look easy because people like this step up and help out.

Junior Trap Help

This awesome program is continuing to improve and become more popular thanks to the efforts of Chris Cote and Curt Summers as well as many great volunteers from the Trap community. We are generating a lot of interest in our sport with the younger generation.

Mark Baldwin and I teach the classroom session for the first-time shooters before they go to the Trap Range to try it out. We love having the parents in the class along with the kids because they will help reinforce what the students are learning.

The volunteers that are helping to run the event and coach the kids are what make it all possible. The kids have noticed that many of the coaches are regular Saturday, Tuesday, and Wednesday Trap shooters and they appreciate the expertise of the coaches as well as the generosity of their time. If you want to participate as a coach, please contact Chris Cote. He will give you all of the details.

My dream is to have a solid team of youth Trap shooters to help represent us at InterClub competitions and we are taking the right steps to make that happen. Not only will the kids bring trophies to EF&GA but they will also become participants and coaches for the next generation.

RANGEMASTER SOUND OFF

by Jay Zimmert

If you know me, or have followed any of my articles you know I am obsessed with Cowboy Action Shooting (SASS). For many reasons, a few of which are Cowboy related, I have decided to leave San Diego and move to North Phoenix in February 2022.

I will be joining the Arizona Territorial Rough Riders who are responsible for hosting the SASS World Championship (End of Trail) at the Ben Avery shooting facility. End of Trail is a week-long event with approximately 800 Cowboy/Cowgirl shooters and is an absolute blast.

There are a lot of SASS clubs in the Phoenix area and I will be able to shoot just about every weekend - If I can find powder and primers. I have also contacted the Ben Avery range to volunteer as a Range Safety Officer (RSO). Maybe they will let me have a taser...

Arizona is also a much friendlier gun state. I will be able to walk into the huge Cabela's and actually purchase any firearm I want! I have already picked out my first new (can't get it in California) handgun!!!

I have several responsibilities at EFGA and there are a few important roles that need to be filled. The most crucial role is the Bandidos Shoot Chair which will be taken over by Double Diamond (Darrell Brinkmeier) and a cast of characters to assist him. Another essential job is Chief Cook at the Junior Rifle events. The ladies in the kitchen will slice and dice you if you burn the hamburgers and hotdogs! Who is brave enough to step up and volunteer?

The Board of Directors has a tough job of picking a new Chief RSO for the Association. The job of CRSO can be challenging at times. You need great wisdom and a heck of a lot of patience not to strangle everyone. A taser would help!

The holiday season is here, and you may have been really good this year and get a new firearm. Please read the manual and watch a few videos on how the firearm functions (before coming out to the range) and also how to clean it. If you were really, really good you might actually get some ammo to go with your new firearm!

I would like to thank everyone past and present at EFGA for the friendships, knowledge and experience I have gained.

JUNIOR CORNER

by Patrick Russ

Important Dates:

Junior Trap 12/11/2021

Junior Trap 1/8/2022

Junior Rifle 1/15/2022

Starting in 2022, Junior Pistol will be moving to the 3rd Sunday of the even months.

There will be no Junior pistol event this month (December).

The Junior Marksmanship Program is proud to announce that Keira Wright, one of our own Junior shooters recently graduated from U.S. Navy Boot Camp on 11/10/2021. You might remember her as one of the recruits that was sworn in on live TV on Memorial Day last year. Next Keira will be attending Navy Hospital Corpsman Basic School. We wish her the best of luck in school and her future in the Navy. This is what a future leader looks like.

On November 21st, the Junior Marksmanship program held their annual Veteran's Day event. The event started off with the Junior Coaches reading some kind words that explained why we hold these events and why we appreciate our veterans and first responders. I am proud to say that the Junior coaches did this on their own with no help from the adults. Our own Samantha Cary and Nicole Duran sang "God Bless the U.S.A", "Stand" and the National Anthem. As usual, they did an amazing job. By the way, Samantha Cary wrote the song "Stand." Do yourself a favor and look it up online. It will quickly become your favorite patriotic song.

I would like to thank everyone that helped make this event happen. The Junior coaches put together a great presentation, Samantha and Nicole gave us an amazing performance and AJ Wagle got the stage ready in record time.

We had a lot for new shooters and lots of great shooting. We had more girls than boys shooting this month. I would also like to mention that Sage O'Dell (6yrs old) was able to tell me all the safety rules. Not only did he know the rules, but he was also able to explain them to me. For his hard work, Sage, was presented with a Junior Marksmanship shirt.

Please remember to bring your donation for the Joy Drive to the December general meeting. All donations go directly to our military members aboard Camp Pendleton.

The Junior Marksmanship Program would like to wish everyone a very safe and Merry Christmas and the happiest and safest of New Years. We are looking forward to having a full year of Junior events next year.

AROUND THE RANGE

BRINGING TO PLAY

By Elvio Marchi

In previous issues I wrote about the focusing of the reticle to your eye along with another article referencing zeroing and with another regarding the effects of parallax. In this article, I'm going to connect one element with the others to, hopefully, obtain more accurate shooting.

At this point, your reticle should be sharp as a tack and you have zeroed your rifle. Your scope, in this example, is a fixed focus scope. The cross-hair is centered and you are about to finish the squeeze..."darn, My rifle moved!" Did the rifle move or was it your face? Remember parallax? Do you have a solid cheek weld on your stock or do you float your head to maintain a good view through your scope? So now you steady the rifle position. Take the shot and find that you are slightly right. We'll correct that with a little left windage, right? On the next shot you've locked on to the stock during the squeeze and...whaaa? You're slightly to the left. The shot was over corrected because parallax displaced the reticle in the 1st shot and the rifle position was corrected instead of cheek weld.

You see this little dance occur very often while coaching the junior rifle event. Novice juniors, especially, are not used to anchoring on the stock, or the stock doesn't fit them, so they tend to float their face. Instead of a scope they utilize a peep sight but the effect is almost the same. If they place the front sight centered in the rear peep they usually hit where they aim. If they displace the front sight low in the rear peep sight their impact is usually high and vice versa if the front sight is displaced high.

Although technically it isn't the same, the effect is. They correct the rifle position for the sight displacement. A good shot needs for you to be aware of what element needs the correction.

"But I've got a tight cheek weld. Why can't I see through my scope well?" In that situation your face structure is probably aligning your eye either too low or too high for alignment. You might possibly need a slightly higher scope ring set in the case of being too low, and a lower ring set in the case of being too high, to bring the scope into alignment with your eye. If you are one that floats your head to get a proper scope picture (or your eye is too low with a firm cheek weld) you might want to consider placing some form of cushion between your face and your stock until you find the proper thickness that will maintain your visual alignment along with a solid cheek weld. ???? ...ALL I WANT IS A SCOPE!

By Elvio Marchi

FFF, SFP, 6x24x50, MOA, MIL. All that alphabet! Come on! All I want is a scope that I can use to place a crosshair on a target. Essentially, a scope is nothing more than a tube with a set of lenses to bring the target into focus. It's something like a telescope except a telescope would look pretty silly taped to the top of your rifle. (Not that it hasn't been tried!)

With the many technological advances of today, scopes have evolved much further than the beginning low, single powered, skinny tubed scope of not too many years ago. They have progressed from a measly 4 power magnification to today's standard of 24 power powerhouses. They have advanced from a skimpy 1-1/4 inch diameter lens to 56mm (2.2inch) behemoths. What does this all mean for you? CHOICES!

For the most part, scopes are identified as three classifications.

1) Basic scope:

- a) The basic scope is low cost, usually 4-9 power, optics grade and are primarily used for target or plinking type shooting. They are designed primarily for targets within 50yds and light recoil firearms. Many shooters prefer this type due to its simplicity.

2) Variable power scope:

- a) These scopes can be adjusted for different magnification levels. Optics are demonstratively more refined and are usually focusable for distance and parallax (not always). They are primarily used for match target shooting and hunting environments. They are usually higher cost.

3) Precision scope:

- a) Precision scopes can be found in both variable and fixed power, focusable and parallax correctable with lens clarity and contrast of a much higher quality. These scopes are found on many long range (600yds+) shooters' and precision shooters' rifles. Their cost is higher, sometimes exceptionally higher! How thick is your wallet!?

Each of these classes has sub-classes of features and refinements depending on their manufacturers and/or brand names. All the scopes described have turret adjustments to compensate for ballistic variables such as elevation and windage.

A new scope shooter is probably going to first encounter a basic fixed power (magnification) style. Relatively speaking, they are also low cost units. Which one is right for you? What type of shooting do you indulge in? Those questions, among others, and some market research are what will assist you in determining which unit will best fit your needs.

Relive the simpler days of Old California with us...

Rancho Guejito Vineyard grows its grapes in the fine soils and climates of the last remaining intact Mexican land grant in California. Our 23,000 acre ranch was established in 1845. Nearly 175 years later, we have kept the tradition of cattle ranching, agriculture, and wine making alive.

Visit us every weekend for hayride tours, live music, and wine tasting.
